“ Your time has come, you fought a many a fight and won, even the close calls, Just like it was said today, no more cane, wheelchair, pain or medications You're flying high feeling better than ever. Hopefully back enjoying the life you had, working on cars, boating, fishing and hunting. Hope you're catching up with mom, pop and Betty. I'm sure at some point and time our paths will cross again. Enjoy the freedoms of no more pain, a cane, wheelchair or meds. Take it easy Brower. Until we meet again.

“ Jim Bo! You were a beacon of sunshine and fun to us kids next door. The refrain when we got to the shore "Is Jimmy here, is Jim Bo here?" I was told I was allowed a single minute to be a pest and go visit. I can't express the joy you gave us by recognizing us as more than just kids, taking us skiing, or offering extra crabs our way. Thank you for your friendship and exuberance. Your summer neighbor. Leslie Kerr
