“ Dear Lana and Sharon, although I doubt if you remember my name but we were neighbors of your Mom and Dad's on Holly Harbor in Oxford. We were the first lane to the left coming off Holly Harbor. As a golfer your Dad and I had a special bond but not as strong as he had with my two sons, Mike and Matt. They were around the ages of young teenagers. They just loved your Dad, after dinner they would go over to their house, knock on the door and ask Winnie if John could come out and play. They would hit golf balls all around the yard. When I called to tell them of John's passing the one comment they had was “he had more sets of new golf clubs”. They are now 58 and 56 respectively. To tell you the truth, I was amazed that John was still living and I assume over 100. My Garey is now 90, we sold the farm in 2001 and live at the Easton Club. If memory serve me right I think Garey was their dentist. Our condolences to you and the family.

“ The Hardings were a big part of the summer fun on West River. “Boonie”, as John was known, was a great sailor and active part of the West River Sailing Club. He had a wonderful sense of humor, and many friends on the river. Our Uncle Buddy and Aunt Mardi Hartge were great friends with Boonie and Winnie. The Hardings were also close with my Cousins Elsie and Buck Schlegel, and many of our other cousins. Their son “Buddy” Harding was a close friend of my brother, Totch. The Hardings were a part of what made summers on the River wonderful. My sincere sympathy goes out to Lana and Sharon and the rest of your families. Alice Hartge Wilson

“ Dear Sharon, Lana and Tracy,
Boonie was a lifetime friend of our family. We had wonderful times messing about in boats on West River. He was smart, funny and loving, and a straight shooter. Buddy and I enjoyed our post-Vietnam years side by side, Regularly egged on by Boonie and Winnie
Love to all of you from our family

“ John was such a gentleman and such an inspiration! He was generous and loyal to his friends. Turning 100 to him was “ no big deal”, it was special to celebrate that impressive milestone with him.
My deepest sympathy to all, we have lost a treasured loved one.
