“Baby, where do I begin. You gave me the best 4 years of my life. You were more than a mother, you were a Mommy. I could not ask for a better friend, soul mate and wifey. You always worried about "Your boys" before you worried about your self. I will always remember your smile, your laugh and how hard you fought so long for us. I can't believe you're gone. I wish I could have done something to save you. I will promise you that I will do the best I can to raise them boys and will always make sure they remember you. I love you so much from the first day I met you. I will never stop loving you. From watching our shows together and eating popcorn to spending time with you in the hospital and just talking about anything and everything. You mentally never gave up. I love you wifey and will see you again.

“ Amanda,
You were one of the strongest people I know. You fought through the sickness, stayed strong for the boys and when everyone thought it was over you proved them wrong. I will remember the day you and I were working, I kept saying things I wanted to change about myself, things that were wrong. You told me "stop worrying. You are beautiful no matter what you think." Of course it was the "awkward" stage at that time and I didn't believe you. We would always comment on each others post to facebook or Instagram and tell each other how beautiful the picture was. Well here I am again beautiful.... This time it's different. You are beautiful for fighting like you did, for proving the Drs wrong, for the happiness and smiles you had even through it all. You were beautiful even when hooked up to all the machines. We just want you to know that we all love you and miss you greatly. God only picks the young beautiful flowers for his garden. Fly high beautiful!
