“ Aunt Anna never sugarcoated a thing—she’d tell you the truth whether you were ready or not. 🗨️ She had a way of cutting through the nonsense and getting straight to the point. And if you came around with foolishness? She’d send you right back where you came from. 🚫

But beneath all that honesty was a heart full of love, wisdom, and a fierce loyalty to those she cared about. She kept us laughing, kept us humble, and let us know real quick if we were getting too big for our britches. 😂 And while she might’ve side-eyed a few folks and called out some ‘hypocrites,’ I just know heaven is getting a dose of real talk right now.

Rest easy, Aunt Anna. We’ll miss your truth, your fire, and that one-of-a-kind love you gave in your own special way. ❤️

“ Coming to sing with the Women’s Choir from Simpson UM Church during Ashbury’s anniversaries just won’t be the same without seeing Aunt Anna. She would light up when she saw me. Then in the next sentence she would kindly remind me...you can’t sing 🤔😂🙏.
Sending my deepest condolences to the family.

“ Condolences to my cousins. Aunt Anna was my “cool aunt “. My best memory is when i was in my teens and i saw her on the back of uncle cotton’s motorcycle pull up on Jessup st. She had an afro and her jeans on. I was so excited because i had an aunt that rode a motorcycle!
