“ We spent most weekends in the summer with Terry and Annette over many years. Annette was one of my dearest friends. We sat out in our lawn chairs at camp and crocheted, did out latch hooks and talked for hours at a time. Annette, Terry, Ray and I spent many a Saturday night around a campfire, or if it was raining we would watch all the old movies that Annette worked hard to tape over the years. One very rainy summer, she and I watched every single one of the old Shirley Temple movies. Over the years we shared our lives and watched each others children grow up. Our husbands were also best friends. They had some great adventures together.

She will be missed, and in my prayers always!
