“ To the Family of Bruce Michael Miller, Jr..

You raised a beautiful, intelligent, self-less young man. What an honor I have known him for a short while in Wilmington and his visitation to our home in Beaufort. We met by way of our son, Christopher Cody Taylor as his roommate of half a year. I already took a liking to Bruce before I even met him having a good rapport through Cody and his friends. Bruce was a giver, a loyal roommate and I so loved bantering with him about every topic under the sun! Now talk about food.. our favorites, how to cook and spices used and who enjoyed eating them together.

Bruce was with Cody, Rick and I during Hurricane Dorian which passed right by our house. He was insistent on helping Cody's dad repair the vinyl on our front porch ceiling because his father taught him the specific skill for slat fitting. A bond was incurred through the accomplishment of that task. Rick's 'Old School' demeanor was softened by Bruce's work ethics, perseverance and beaming personality.

I can hear Bruce even now, "Oh, Ms Roxanne.." is how he would start his sentences to me. He was such a people-pleaser and insisted on helping if he was in the kitchen or outside. He and I were loud and both laughing at any topic being discussed. He was always smiling even when daydreaming.

And of course the conversations between Bruce and Cody was always amusing! How they blustered at each other just like two lifelong friends. They were truly devoted to one another. "I got your back, man" was recited often. As Cody proclaimed, "We're a Team" as they both rekindled their pledge to live in Wilmington.

I could see the love Bruce had for his family as he spoke admirably about his father, mother, sister and niece. His eyes sparkled when he spoke of his high school football history and accomplishments. I understand how Bruce was picked Most Valuable Player! That charismatic personality was contagious to those around him.

I miss Bruce and pray for eternal life through our Lord Jesus Christ whom he referred to several times in deep conversations with me. To see Bruce again will be a joy-filled day!

Blessings Always,

Roxanne K. Taylor

“ Dearest Bruce Sr. - You know my heart goes out to you and stays with you. I learned what I know of construction from you going back to Casey in Baltimore. And, I turned to you whenever I got stuck with a project or demo or other craziness - and you often brought your son along - polite, sweet, helpful, funny, caring - just like his dad. We have done demo together, glass walls, umbrella stands, bathroom plumbing, ceilings - you name it. And, I always looked for Bruce Jr. to be with you. I watched your relationship and you did everything for your son - he had such a loving and caring mom and dad. You gave him all you had and more. He knew that, and he was blessed for that. My thoughts and caring will always be with you as you travel this path of grief and loss.

“ Bruce was friends with my brother, Dan Shacochis. The first time I met Bruce, my mom had called me down for dinner. When I got in the kitchen there was only this unknown boy grabbing himself a plate. I asked "who are you?" And he said "I'm Bruce. Who are you? " To which I responded "I live here" but it didn't matter-- Bruce's answer cemented him in my heart as one of my brother's favorite friends. I am deeply saddened by his passing and my thoughts and prayers are with his family xoxo
