“ To the family and friends of, Catherine Aveni. I am so sorry to hear of your loss, please accept my sincerest condolences. We all know that death is something that plagues all of mankind, no matter our race or age. However, I found it comforting to know that God has provided a way to remedy this world-wide epidemic. The scriptures found at Isaiah 25:8 and Acts 24:15 promise that not only will Jehovah God swallow up our enemy death in the future, but that we will be able to see the ones we have loss once again. We all are looking forward to that day when we will be able to touch our dear one's face again, but until then may these scriptures help you draw comfort in your time of deep sorrow.##imported-begin##ms. brown##imported-end##

“ I was fortunate enough to be a substitute caregiver for Mrs. Aveni a number of times when her regular one was unavailable. She was an incredible lady who gave me much more than I could give her. She was a prolific reader who introduced me to a number of authors and books that were new to me. I have been keeping the local librarians busy ever since.

She also had been a great cook and gave me a new recipe every time I saw her. My entire family loved her Italian Eggplant dish. At this point, members of our family as far away as Sweden are making her recipe.

Her love for her grandsons was unparalleled. Each time I saw her, I got the latest on each one's accomplishments, travels, and future plans.

She also thought she had the best daughter and son-in-law in the world. She told me with pride how her daughter, Linda, called her each day, no matter where she was and how her son-in-law did such wonderful work with returning vets.

She was a great lady, one who enriched my life, and I will miss her##imported-begin##Marsha Murphy##imported-end##
