“ Dear Lynn, Michael, Rita, Art, Nancy, & Family:

Please know that our thoughts and prayers are with you during this difficult time since David's untimely passing. We will continue to remember you in prayer in the weeks and months ahead. Our hearts break for your family as we know this is so difficult for you. We are truly saddened.

Lynn, as you try to move forward climbing this highest of mountains, I pray that you will find peace, encouragement, God's blessings, and angels all along the way. David would want you to be strong now, just as you always have, and move forward finding peace, happiness, and contentment. You were always his rock and you fought the good fights in life right alongside him, just as he fought the good fights alongside you. I pray you will go forward, my friend, and find peace and happiness until you meet your son again.

I will always remember David for being smart, charming, handsome, big-hearted, and good-spirited. I love how he was generally filled with that child-like excitement about life and trivial things and how he truly cared so much for his fellow man. I remember him as I pass or go into Shomar's Restaurant and recall how much he loved their chicken salad pita sandwiches. I remember him as I drive by so many places in Charlotte that he loved or visited. I think of him when I walk onto our screened in porch that he helped us enclose and that our cats enjoy so much. It reminds me of David's skills and many talents.

I am sure Bob met him with open arms and a good stern talk for leaving you way too soon. But, quickly they will be palming around, wandering those streets of gold side by side, father and son reunited, as they look for a good fishing spot to sit together.

As difficult as this is, and will be for you, Lynn, I pray that you will find some comfort in knowing that since he and Bob have been reunited that David is no longer searching for that which he was missing.

May David's spirit, the good memories, family, friends, and God's Holy Spirit bring comfort to each of you in the days, nights, and months yet to come.

*Our love and prayers always,

David, I hope you're enjoying heaven and your many reunions and that you are dancing in the sky and singing in the angel's choir. Rest in Peace, my friend, and know that we will never forget you.
