“ I first met Dave when I came to Maryland to work as a consultant in Charles County. Dave was doing construction inspection work on county projects. His knowledge served him well and he and I saw many problems through. He later was put on extended furlough. I recommended him to a firm that was looking to hire personnel for the Intercounty Connector project, which, sadly, became his last position.

I will always remember how Dave helped my wife when I was in the hospital and she needed help. He went way beyond what I would have expected.

I will miss seeing Dave at the job site. I wish his wife and family well and hope all the good thoughts will see them through this difficult time.##imported-begin##Ron Sherard##imported-end##
