Aunt Doris was one of the great women of her time. She did it ALL her way and didn't care what people thought, making her life meaningful and spectacular! She told me once that a woman must always have her lipstick on to face the day. It is the first thing I have always done as a woman, every morning. She was right. It always made me feel better and ready for the day. She also told me MANY years ago, that I must never care what people said about me. She said I was a good person, that I should believe that no matter what. That as long as "I" knew who I was, and tried to always do right, that was all that mattered. And, without fail- she loved me for who I was, never judged, and I loved her greatly for that. A most spectacular Lady of her time. I loved her so much for the person SHE was.

“ My sweet Aunt Doris! Such a beautiful lady, inside and out. I ran into her at the grocery store last summer and she told me how Leonard did the driving and she did the shopping. She talked about how much she missed my Mom and how she wished she was younger so she could have bought my family home. Godspeed my sweet Aunt!
