“ Dear Mr and Mrs Hall, Lacey, Nancy and all

While Doris was with us here at DirectBuy she made an impression on everyone and helped us grow our business. I remember this first time we met, she gave me a big hug. She endeared herself to the staff, the members she designed for and all. She made friends easily and loved deeply. I am so sorry for what has come but I do know that God is in control and that she sought after Him, I feel she is finally at peace.##imported-begin##Debbie Taylor##imported-end##

“ D, You were loved then and still today. You will truly be missed by me and my mom. You were very much apart of our family. You were like a daughter to my mom, which she never had and my best friend. She will miss you attending church with her and I will miss the quiet times we had together, as well as the adventures ones. Your charactor, spirit, charm, beauty, and warm smile can never be replaced. Hope your resting peacefully now. When I look up in the sky on a clear night and see a bright star shining and twinkling just a little, I will get a warm filling in my heart knowing its you. “ Doris, finally at peace. No more worries, no more pain. Looking down on me from heaven. Her loving spirit will be by my side always. I love you and will miss you, my good friend. Doris renewed her life to God in January of 2010 at Restoration Church in Kingsport, Tennessee. I was by her side during this church service. Her prayers were for her sick father, who she loved with all her heart and her daughter. She loved you Lacey and was very proud of you. ##imported-begin##Jamey Brown##imported-end##
