

Elizabeth Pierson

June 21, 1921 - March 30, 2009

Homemaker and former teacher Elizabeth W. "Betty" Pierson, an Easton resident for 21 years, died of Alzheimer's Disease Monday, March 30, 2009 at the Gardens at William Hill Manor in Easton. She was 88.

Elizabeth Ives Wilcox was born June 21, 1921, in Baltimore, the daughter of the late Louis and Mary Colt Wilcox. Like her mother, she graduated from Goucher College after attending Girls Latin School in Baltimore. She served at one time on the Goucher College Alumnae Board.

For several years, Mrs. Pierson was a part time teacher at the School of Chimes and St. Leo's in Little Italy in Baltimore.

In 1945, she married John A. Pierson, also a Baltimorean and a U.S. Navy bomber pilot during World War II. He died in May of 2001. The Piersons lived in Roland Park for more than 40 years.

While in Baltimore she was a member of the Junior League's Brighter Morning Club, Young Audiences and Woodland Garden Club. She and her husband also belonged to the Gibson Island Club, where they enjoyed playing golf. In Easton, she became a member of the Harbor Club of the Eastern Shore and the National Society of the Colonial Dames of Maryland.

Her hobbies included reading, playing bridge and writing notes to friends and family.

She is survived by two daughters, Liz Freedlander of Easton and Anna A. Pierson of Annapolis; a son John B. Pierson of Towson; her sister, Joan Creighton of Baltimore; five grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Private graveside services will be held at 10:30 am Thursday, April 2 at St. Mary's Cemetery in Baltimore.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Talbot Hospice Foundation, 586 Cynwood Dr., Easton, MD 21601.

Arrangements made by Fellows, Helfenbein & Newnam Funeral Home, P.A. of Easton.

“ Dear Liz,

I check the Star Democrat when I can. I saw your mom's obituary I really did not know her name but when I saw her picture and the cause of death, I thought she looked so much like you. I am so sorry to her of her passing but as you and I both know, this ugly disease robbed us both of our wonderful, loving moms long ago. May you find peace and comfort in knowing your mom is smiling and happy again as I believe my mom is. She has joined the other beautiful moms who will always shine down on us from above. Ron and I are now in Venice, FL for most of the year but know my heart is with you.

Love

“ Liz - News traveled fast from Easton, to Rene in Charlottesville, to me in Colorado. So sorry to hear of your mother's passing. My thoughts are with you, Howard and the girls at this time. I am sure these last few years have been difficult for all of you.

Hugs,

Kathy###imported-begin##Kathy Myrick###imported-end##
