“ Stephan, sorry to learn of our mother's passing. I spoke to her many years ago and we talked of meeting for lunch sometime in the near future but that never came to be because of illness. I enjoyed our conversation very much and she had recently returned from a trip tp Brussels at that time. I'm so sorry I never got to meet her personally. Take care and God loves you.##imported-begin##Janet Stocman##imported-end##

“ Miss Ellie use to come to the grocery store where I worked, and because of those visits we became friends for several years. She was a dear sweet lady, who made the best of everyday she had on this earth. She loved her family and often told stories about them. She and I went to lunch several times and she always found someone she knew where ever we went. She was well known of in the area, and very well thought of. I will miss her deeply, but I'm thankful for the good times we shared together. I know she is in Heaven giving someone an ear full of her views. Bless you Miss Ellie for sharing some of your lifes adventures with me. You will be missed.##imported-begin##Linda Renfro##imported-end##

“ My cat, Tabitha and I had the good fortune to know Ellinor through our visits to Dixon House with Pets on Wheels of Delmarva. She was a warm, funny, generous woman. She always had strong opinions on everything happening around her and in the news and many great stories to tell about her life and her family. She loved her son and grandchildren very much, and also their cat, Nicky. We will miss her dearly and always remember her with affection.##imported-begin##Ellen Lee Evans##imported-end##
