“ I was so sorry and surprised to read about Ernest in the paper. I knew him through Christ Church in Georgetown and he taught me Photo Shop on his computer back when it was new. We were both photographers and he was always ahead of the game. Having hiked in Wales not that long ago I thought he would live forever. I last saw him up at Friendship House behind the old Sears, which seems not that long ago. Ernest was a dear, intelligent, smart caring person whose loss will be felt by not only people but the earth and its environment.##imported-begin##Holly Foss##imported-end##
