He was born in Havre de Grace, MD, on July 1, 1937, the son of the late Martin Moore and Frances Jackson Tyson. Bob was a graduate of Jacob Tome Institute in 1955 and also studied at the Peabody Institute. He was a graduate of Washington College in 1959 with a Bachelor's of Science Degree in mathematics and physics.

He began his teaching career in 1959 at Rock Hall High School teaching mathematics, science, physics, and chemistry. He transitioned to Kent County High School in 1972 where he taught mathematics. Music was his passion, but he also enjoyed needlepoint, woodworking, upholstery, theatre, traveling, and playing bridge.

He is survived by his wife, Helen, along with nephews, Matthew Stearns and his wife Jung Jin "J.J." and Benjamin Stearns. He was predeceased by a son, Mark Tyson, in 1977.

“ So sad to see that the world has lost such an interesting character and wonderful educator - he, Bob Crooks and Sylvia Maloney showed me how much a great education could enrich my life. It is sad to get older and lose friends; my life would have been far less rich had Mr. Tyson not been an important part of it.
