“ Forest and I remember back years ago when we first heard that our vivacious Aunt Anna Mae had met "someone from Church," and really liked him. We felt protective of her that it would be someone whom she could count on through good times and bad and that their love would last the tests of time.

We were so thankful as we got to know the wonderful Jack Patchett more and more over the next 26 years seeing how both "Uncle Jack" and Aunt Anna Mae enriched each others lives with love and devotion. Each time we'd visit Easton from the "Western Shore" whenever we'd see Aunt Anna Mae, we'd see Uncle Jack like the proverbial "two peas in a pod," as it should be with marriage, teasing back and forth and even child's-play bickering back and forth adding a little spice to the mix!!!

Like Aunt Anna Mae with her first husband, Uncle Robert Fisher, my Forest and I have had a wonderful marriage together, and I could not imagine what it would be like without him. I can only pray, however, that if Forest was ever taken from me as was Uncle Robert from Aunt Anna Mae, that my family would hear that I'd met "somehow at Church," and that, that "someone" would be as decent, noble and inherently good of a man as was our dear Uncle Jack Patchett.

My eyes moisten as I write this with faith that Uncle Jack is very much aware of how we miss him, and for him to know that I will always cherish his memory in my heart.

Sincerely,
