“ J..... You were not only my cousin but my friend..... You always made everyone smile when you were around..... My daughters looked up to you, especially Kels, cuz you never downed her for being a "dark child".... she idolized you! Lizzie looked at you like a big brother when she needed advice. .... Joe & you became freinds & when you two got together, you NEVER knew what was going to be said or happen! I loved you for so many reasons, not just cuz we were family, or because you had a big heart..... there were a gazillion reasons, but I think one of the biggest reasons, was that you were not scared to challenge the norms of society!
J, May you walk with God & sleep with angels..... I will see you again!
All my love, your cousin, Heather##imported-begin##Heather Ellis_Johnson##imported-end##

“ Jason, my heart aches for the emotional pain you must suffered here on earth. You had such a tender heart, and you felt things much more deeply than the average person. I take comfort in knowing that where you have gone there is no more tears, no more pain, no more fears. I know you are enjoying fellowship with Jesus, Pop-Pop Cothin and Uncle Bobby. I know that you would not come back to this wicked earth if you could. God bless you Jason. I love you and Uncle Jim loves you. We miss you.##imported-begin##Aunt Debbie##imported-end##
