“ Ah Nancy! Lisa and I remember you and Rennie well! I remember his counsel and caution on the vestry when we served together. He was always the voice of reason. We remember too little Joey--now not so little. Wishing you and him the best. Rest in peace, good and faithful servant.

“ I will remember Rennie's enthusiasm for life. Even as his health was deteriorating over the past few years, he always greeted me with a smile and often, a hug. He loved the church music and each time we sang, "The Church is One Foundation" he came up to the choir loft smiling and saying, "That is my favorite hymn. I want that sung at my funeral." But in spite of it all, he never appeared discouraged and always looked to the future. He loved to reminisce about his Eastern Shore roots and could recite family history going all the way back to the 1700s!

Nancy was a devoted wife, companion, and caregiver to Rennie. She worried when he was ailing, and flew into action when he had an emergency. She could let the EMTs know exactly what he needed when they came and even knew some of them by name. Rennie knew what a loving and caring wife he had!

My husband and I so enjoyed the times when we got together with Rennie and Nancy for dinner, for a trip to the Nat'l. Cathedral, or the movies. We will miss him.

“ Dear Nancy, when I heard about Rennie, all I could think of as special memories were when Elmer and I spent some time with both you and Rennie in Ocean City. We had a lot of fun, great laughs and a lot of special time together. Elmer always loved talking to Rennie about planting fruit trees and vegetable gardens. Rennie will be greatly missed and please know we are here for you. Love, Joanne

“ My heartfelt condolences to the family and friends of Dr. Rennie Stavely on his death. Rennie was a dear friend and colleague. He worked long and hard on controlling bean diseases like rust and as a bean breeder we worked together to incorporate that resistance into new bean varieties. He will be dearly missed by members of the bean scientific community but his scientific works will outlive him in the many bean varieties and lines that he developed with resistance to rust that have been shared and grown around the world. Again, my condolences, Jim Kelly

“ Nancy,

I wanted to let you know I have been thinking of Rennie, you, and the family particularly through the last few weeks. I am very sorry I cannot be there to celebrate Rennie's amazing life and give you a tight hug. I always loved our trips to visit you guys in Ocean City, spotting dolphins, trying crab, and seeing the Assateague Island ponies - I think that's where my love for the ocean began and I will never forget those amazing memories! This last time you and Rennie were in Madison, it was so lovely to be able to FaceTime to see and talk to you both. I always learned so much family history from Rennie, something a lot of people aren't fortunate to learn. And I am particularly grateful and appreciative to have seen you both in Madison this past December celebrating my graduation from our shared alma mater. That was extremely special and meaningful to have you there as we grow our family of Badger alums. Sending lots of hugs and love.

*Love,
Lindsay*

“ Nancy's brother Richard and I were married in 1962 and my recollection is that Nancy met Rennie shortly after that. We were able to observe their relationship develop and those were fun years as we were all students. Specifically, I remember the party after Rennie and others had passed their prelims. The Limbo Dance was performed with gusto and the beverage of choice seemed to be beer and more beer. It was difficult for us Wisconsin people to accept that Nancy would be moving east with Rennie, but Rennie willingly made sure that Nancy and later with Joe got back to Wisconsin at least once a year and frequently more than that. In later years when Rennie was doing "beans", they would come to Wisconsin and then Rennie and Nancy's Dad would head to the bean fields in the Dakotas. Rennie was as kind as he was intelligent. We are saddened by his passing. Rosemary E. Gall.

“ *Nancy, Joe and Family,
It was an honor to be neighbors with Rennie. Five years seems short but Phil and I were lucky to share some good stories and laughs with you before Phil passed and now - Rennie. I will always be grateful for your support and hope I can return that in some small measure. My deepest sympathy
