

Joseph Vilk

March 21, 2007

Joseph Vilk of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania died Wednesday March 21, 2007 in the Delaware County Memorial Hospital, Upper Darby, Pennsylvania. He was 63.

Mr. Vilk retired from the City of Philadelphia, working as the 1st District Engineer, in their Streets Department.

Mr. Vilk was a graduate of Temple University and served during the Vietnam War in the SeaBees.

Mr. Vilk was a member of the Upper Eastern Shore Anglers Club. He loved to fish, enjoyed sailing and was an avid model boat builder. Mr. Vilk enjoyed reading and music and was a self proclaimed political junkie. He was very capable around the house and was referred to as Mr. Fix-It, and among his many comfort characteristics he was a wonderful cook.

Mr. Vilk is survived by his wife Helaine Wendorf Vilk; a son Daniel I. Vilk and a grandson Louis Vilk, both of Philadelphia, PA; nieces and nephews Marshall and Sandy Seigle and Jackie and Eric Seigle all of Phoenixville, PA and Mitchell Seigle of San Jose, CA.

A Service of Remembrance will be held on Saturday April 7, 2007 at 11 a.m. in the Fellows Helfenbein & Newnam Funeral Home, 130 Speer Road, Chestertown, MD.

In lieu of flowers the family suggests contributions in his memory to the Chester River Hospice Foundation, 6602 Church Hill Road, Chestertown, MD 21620.
