

Margaret Peck Iovino

October 3, 1950 - May 18, 2024

MARGARET PECK IOVINO of Easton, Maryland passed away on May 18, 2024, after a fierce battle with cancer.

Born October 3, 1950, in Washington DC, Margaret (“Peggy”) was the eldest child of Delphine (“Dee”) Murphy Peck and the late Charles Edward (“Ted”) Peck.

Margaret grew up in Perrysburg, Ohio, where the family moved after her father was transferred to the headquarters of Owens Corning Fiberglas in Toledo. On the Maumee River in an agricultural area, Perrysburg was an economically diverse and friendly one-square mile town. Margaret received her education from the Perrysburg schools, later attending Maumee Valley Country Day School and Ohio University.

Margaret struck off on her own to New York City, where she worked as a recruiter for American Electric Power Company. While in New York, she met Peter Iovino, whom she married in 1977.

The newlyweds soon moved to the Washington, DC area. Intelligent and independent, Margaret created and operated the “Toys in the Attic” store for eight years. In 1983, Margaret and Peter celebrated the birth of their daughter Joan.

In 1991, with Joan in elementary school, Margaret became a volunteer for Bill Clinton's presidential campaign. Her job included communicating with the public, a role she continued in the White House for the first months of the Clinton administration.

Margaret and Joan moved to Bethesda, MD following her divorce, where Margaret dedicated her time to Joan. They often visited Margaret's parents, who had retired to Maryland's Eastern Shore to a waterfront house in the St Michaels area. After high school, Joan and Margaret moved close to Margaret's parents.

Settling in Easton, Margaret began a new career. First for the Star-Democrat and later for Forever Media/WCEI/WINX, Margaret was a top-seller in advertising with a keen interest in helping local businesses thrive. She also participated in many local activities.

An avid genealogist, Margaret joined her father in researching his grandmother's Dorchester County ancestors. Diligent and resourceful, Margaret helped identify forty-two ancestors, some of whom were early settlers in Dorchester County.

Margaret fought her cancer with tenacity and resourcefulness to the end.

Margaret is survived by her beloved daughter, Joan Hunter Iovino of Easton, Maryland; her mother, Delphine Mant Murphy Peck of Easton; her siblings Charles Edward Peck Jr, Katherine Peck Koustmer, and Perry Peck Flanagan (A. David Flanagan Jr); and many cousins, nieces, and nephews, all of whom loved her very much.

A Celebration of Life will be held at Third Haven Friends Meeting at 405 S.

Washington Street, Easton, MD 21601 on Saturday June 8 at 2 PM.

In lieu of flowers, donations in Margaret's memory may be made to the Clarity Foundation, clarityfoundation.org/donate, which provided medical information and support throughout her illness.

“ I was so saddened when I heard about Margaret's passing from a former coworker on Friday. Margaret and I worked together at APG. When I moved to the Eastern Shore, Margaret immediately made me feel at home. Not only did she help me learn the ropes at the Easton office but she also helped me with learning the area. I will never forget her kindness.

I remember Peggy very well from Mrs. Worstell's 6th grade class at Elm Street School in Perrysburg. She was so much fun and was my playground "buddy." My thoughts are with all of you in this difficult time. What a beautiful picture of my elementary school friend.

I noticed Peggy Peck when I was at Elm Street Elementary school in 1959/60. She even impressed me as an independent individual who marched to a different drummer. Later, a classmate of mine dated her, and to be honest, I was a bit envious of him. Peggy was always a stunner, and later in 1970, I got to see her at Ohio University. I also got to meet her mother as well. My youngest sister was friends with her sister Perry. Peggy was a student activists in regards to the war in Vietnam, and she was involved with getting Buckminister Fuller to come to O.U.!!! By then, I knew that Peggy was well on her way. I regret that she left this world at least 20 years too soon. May she rest in peace. Fondly, Tim Quilter in Perrysburg, Ohio

You are most welcome, Perry. Do you remember my youngest sister, Elizabeth (Betsy)? I was told by my mother that you invited Betsy to your house a few times for social events. Yes, your eldest sister, Peggy was a most memorable lady. I hope that your mother is in good health. It must be difficult to survive the passing of her adult child. She must now be in her 90s. Hope that your other siblings are fine. All the best, Tim Quilter

Hi Tim, Yes I definitely remember Betsy. I feel like we hung out together for a whole school year, maybe in middle school? How is she doing? My Mom is doing well, all things considered, thank you for asking. It pleases us all that you remember Margaret fondly!!! Perry
