“ Mom,
Well I cant believe we're here.I never imagined or prepared myself for life without you.As strange as that sounds I truly thought you were invincible.
So many times I was told to 'Prepare Yourself' and I'd just say to myself they don't know Mom.
You always made a fool out of them. You always were a fighter and you that was your style.
In all the heartache you faced in life You always had the ability to bounce back smiling.
Mom.I will never be able to look at white paint without thinking of you. Every time we moved somewhere I can still see and hear you saying 'don't worry some elbow grease and white paint will make it as good as new'. Then you would work all night painting everything that could possibly be painted.The next morning just as you said it looked brand new.
Even including the time you were a caretaker at Barrett's Chapel and Mr. Mac said to get the place cleaned up.Well you did'nt like the looks of the section where the war heros were buried so you decided to spruce them up.True to form you painted all the tombstones a bright ,shiny white.
Well let me say you could have painted them neon orange! They stood out like bright headlights even in daylight.You were so proud of yourself,you could barely wait to show Mr.Mac.
He was livid! Needless to say we moved shortly afterwards.Even now when I ride by there I catch myself smiling.
Mom life will never be the same without you.I think of your innocent off the cuff humor , the belly laughs only you could make me have and the strength you showed up until your last breath.Mom even when you lost Perry on xmas you could and did still love xmas.When I asked you to please not leave me until after xmas I knew you would do whatever you had to do to hold on.When I held you in my arms at the end I really believed you would look up at me with that big grin *of yours and say 'it's ok I'm here and I'll always be here or you'.But Mom I know you fought a prize fighters fight and your body just gave in.You were always there for all of your children till the end. Mom you left a huge void in this world.You were truly my best friend.Until we meet on the other side'Ilove you.

“ *Dear Nona & family--I was so sad to hear of Marys passing. God i loved that woman! i met her while working for nona @ the base 7-11 and loved it when she came to help at work. what a worker she was ! she had a great sense of humor and never minded doing anything at the store. i remember her with a ciggarette hanging out of her mouth talking up a storm to me. she will be sadly missed by me and i want you all to know what a terrfiic woman she was to me! may the time heal your wounds and know she is in a much better place

“ Sorry to hear about Mary. I've known Mary and Bert for many years. I use to do their hair. She will be missed. I know she accepted Jesus Christ as her Savior so Heaven is now her home. Praying the Lord will heal your hearts and help you through this sad time.
