“ Mason stayed up all night to help me make food for the baby shower. I can hear him making fun of me for not knowing what honeydew is. He had perfected cutting the fruit into perfect little squares. I can hear him laughing at me now.

“ After not having been in Annie's in months, and not having lived on the Island for over seven years now, I just Mason on Friday, working very hard as he always has. I smiled inside, because I always liked him because of his bluntness. He was a good coworker in my short time there many moons ago. I meant to say hello him, but I didn't get the chance. I'll forever regret that. Your family and friends are in my warmest thoughts during this difficult time.

“ Dearest Marty, I can't begin to express how sorry I am. One thing everyone always knew about you and Mason is how much you loved each other. You have always been a truly devoted and living mother. Words seem so small and insignificant right now. All I can offer is a small comfort to you in knowing that people love you and will try their best to help you through your grief and loss. Many prayers and much love to you. Ruthie
