“ Dr. Horne was one of my favorite professors at Washington College. She had the ability to draw in her students with her quiet nature and obvious passion for the subject matter. For a while, I entertained switching majors in large part due to her influence. Recently I had the opportunity to visit and reminisce with Dr. Horne. I brought her a book about the college from the 1980's, and it sparked so many happy memories. My sincere condolences to her family and friends.
