“ When we moved into the neighborhood, I met Rick and discovered that he was recruiting for an "over 35" softball team, the Edenvale Dodgers, even though most of us had not played organized ball. It was fun.

I also discovered Rick was in finance and was a CPA, like me. He was quiet and subtle but humorous. I discovered when he was packing up to go east that he was a fan of paperbacks and I inherited them as well as some yard products and winter washer fluid. Does it not freeze in MD?

Cathy and Carla, we extend our happy thoughts to you and remind you that it was great to share the years you lived here as you added to our community. We can all recall many memories that were created by Rick and your family and that is so valuable now.
