I first encountered Roy in the late 1980's, I was a safety director for a contractor, Roy was with "MOSH". We had many discussions, Roy was always very professional and willing to help with your accident prevention program. Roy was instrumental in helping to develop the Cooperative Safety Programs between a contractor and the State of Maryland. These programs helped reduce job site accidents and improve relations between the contractors and the State. Roy had a wonderful sense of humor and an infectious laugh. My thoughts and prayers are with his entire family.

“OMG, just talked to Roy a few weeks ago, sadly not again. What a GREAT man, always had a smile and jolly laugh, and was quick with a Roy-ism. That is an observation, or response to a comment, mixed often with some satirical humor that Roy spun in description. The one he through at me, after a work/evening social event that had run late was; “Craig, I am going back to my room and get some sleep, cause nothing good happens after midnight, You should do the same.” His wisdom with that Roy-ism proved true more than once. Roy was a good leader, and provided me with leadership advice on many occasions. He shared many ideas and thoughts with me from his military playbook developed during his early years in Service to our Country. Roy was an Educator, always wanting to share knowledge and mentor other young professionals in injury prevention. THANK YOU Roy, for your assistance and friendship over the years. My sincerest condolences to Cheryl and the Family.
