“ Amy, may you have peace and comfort knowing he is safe in the Lord's arms, happy and healthy again. May your good memories help you thru the coming days. When I think of Steve I remember the onery little guy who used to come in and bug us when we would be playing, he was always full of energy, and loved to annoy us when we were all together at your house. He relished that! And would run out laughing when he got our attention, even if it was us telling on him! Lol! I got to know what it was like having a little brother, and they are fond memories. Most people didn't really know Steve, but I know he was kind in heart. He loved hunting, he loved his pets, and he loved you and his parents very much! I know he had a wonderful homecoming when he was greeted by your parents as he arrived at the gates of heaven. May you have continued peace knowing this. Sending my love to you and the girls! I'm here for you! ❤️
