I wrote this 3-years ago. Not sure if or did I shared. I will now.

TJ's death, it was so sudden. TJ was young, strong, healthy and looked well. I had seen TJ on Facebook where he was out hiking with his friends just 3-days prior. Happy. TJ's death was a shock to me, to us all. I'm sure you, just as I had hoped to wake up from this terrible dream of hearing about TJ death and I ask God, 'Please God don't take TJ from us, he's too young. We will all suffer the lost of TJ for a long time. We 'selfishly' want to keep TJ here in life with us.

The thoughts of never having TJ here to hug, love and enjoy will be so unbearable to celebrate the coming holidays. I don't feel much like celebrating or watching my family suffering over TJ's death.

The birth of TJ's life was God's precious gift to us to enjoy him and remember him. TJ's life went way too quickly. Seems to me, not long ago, TJ was a cute little guy running around with his little brother, my girls, his cousins at camp. Then, how quickly the years had passed. TJ grew into a wonderful big hearted, caring young handsome guy; showing kindness to everyone he met in life.

God, his only Son Jesus was God's creation of birth, life, and then death into the bliss.

My prayers to God is to give to all of TJ's families' strength, to get through TJ death. God has given TJ the greatest blessings of all, "no suffering and enteral life." Believe in God; takes us from our death to invite us into the Unity of His Kingdom of Heaven. Peace be with TJ now and our families during these hard times of life's roller coaster rides of joy, sadness and griefs. In time, God will give peace from all our sufferings-as God had gave to His' Son Jesus and now to our TJ; will Rest In Peace with the Lord, my God. Believe. I did not fear the birth of TJ and my children; nor shall I fear TJ's death because our bodies are just the vehicle's to get us through life; having the opportunity to get life right. TJ's had "Mastered Life." TJ was kind, friendly and caring. TJ was thoughtful, respectful, loving and so much more in such a short life. TJ had mastered humanity.

God, thank you for allowing me to have TJ in my family and blessing TJ to take him back with you; an existence greater.

“ I had only know TJ for a few months. He was my account rep at HVAC Distributors. I knew the first time I met him face to face that he lived life knowing the truth contained in the picture. He had the ability to change people and he didn't waste it. He encouraged me in my walk with Christ by sharing his own testimony with me. When someone like TJ passes from this life into eternity I can't help but ask "why Lord"? He was a kind soul to me and I will miss having him in my life here but will look forward to seeing you in Heaven! May God bless his family as they grieve his passing.

“ Often its hard to find the right words... I have so many I could say that I'd end up rambling and going in a hundred different directions. But the main ones are ILL MISS YOU TREMENDOUSLY TJ... Its the thought, knowing I cant pick up and call you whenever I want, or I won't see your name pop up on a picture of me and geno or our kids cuz you reacted to it. All those little things that I'll no longer have to look forward to. Along with the big ones. Going to other family members funerals and you not being there, or the thought of you not being with the family at Christmas even if I'm not there, we always talked on the phone at least. I cant say it enough, you'll be missed so much, and I love you just like a brother, always have!!! Give me-mom, and aunt kate a huge hug from me... and save a spot for me!!! 🙏👼 my angel!!

“ The death of a child is unnatural, unfair and tragic. Parents who lost a child wants to feel support and need to receive permission to grieve in their own way. Grief is unrelenting and will keep coming back and catch you when you least expect. It is important to break down the future into small increments, an hour a day and deal only with one portion at a time. Focus on your normal task. May God give both of you to endure this loss

We did not see TJ much but when we did he always had that beautiful smile and gave us a welcoming hello. TJ you were raised by to great parents who love you with all their hearts and a brother who loves you. Truly you will be missed forever in all our hearts. I really hope you are at piece and one day your family may be at piece and God will help see them through this heartache. 💙*
