“ Terry and I met in high school during a trip to DC. We stayed friends through the years. We both loved to write and one of us got published. Yeah it was Terry not me. We even served on Jury Duty. I just wish that I could have said goodbye. It was a lifetime of being in and out of each other's life. I will miss you old friend. I still get rides in your brother's Key Lime Taxi. I didn't know you had left this world way too soon. Guess I will have to pick up your literary slack. I will miss you, old friend. I keep ending up in ER and nursing homes then it will give me plenty of time to write. I know you just changed worlds. God must have needed an author and poet. Rest in Peace my friend. Safe journey home!

“ Terry and I became friends while he was working at Avon Decorating...we shared an interest in reading and writing and we always got along very well. The last time I saw him he told me he had just received a raise at Walmart where he said he worked as a greeter, and he was very happy about that. He was always friendly and outgoing to me...a really nice guy...and I am very sorry about his passing and for the loss to his large family. Bless your heart, my friend...
