

William Frederick Brown

December 9, 2000

William Frederick "Tony" Brown of Royal Oak, died on Saturday, December 9, 2000 at the Memorial Hospital, Easton. He was 59.

Born in Washington, D.C. on March 13, 1941, he was the son of the late William C. and Dorothy Pullen Brown. He began boxing with the Boy's Club while he was in junior high school, and then later with the Golden Gloves and as Joe Frazier's sparing partner. After graduating from high school, he served in the U.S. Navy as part of the Underwater Demolition Teams, later renamed the Seals, from 1958-62. Following his release from active duty, he attended Florida State University for two years. He moved to Miami where he started his own aluminum company, United Metals. He ran this company for several years before accepting a job with the government as a contract inspector in the Panama Canal. In the late 1970's, he moved to Annapolis where he opened a kitchen cabinet and marble fixture company.

He sold the company after ten years and moved to the Eastern Shore where he started TCP, Maryland's first IP telephony network company. He was still working for TCP up until the time of his death. Mr. Brown was a member of the Royal Oak Community United Methodist Church.

In addition to his wife, the former Lorene "Lori" Cook, whom he married in 1983, he is survived by three sons, William Anthony Domenech of Orlando,

FL, Drew Brown of Annapolis, and Scott Mehl of Fort Collins, CO; two daughters, Ashley Brown of Royal Oak and Teresa Dygert; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Fellows, Helfenbein, & Newnam Funeral Home, Easton on Wednesday, December 13, 2000 at 11:00 AM. Friends may call at the funeral home on Tuesday evening from 6-8 PM and on Wednesday one hour prior to the service.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Diabetes Association, 114 Baptist Street, Salisbury, MD 21801.
